FINAL PROGRAMME

WELCOME ADDRESS

Dear Colleagues,

We would like to invite you to the 8th National Congress of Ocular Inflammation and Infectious Diseases to be held in Thessaloniki on the 5th-7th December 2014 at MACEDONIA PALACE Hotel.

The growing success of the conference organized by the Greek Society for the Study of Ocular Inflammations and Infections (EEMOFL) is an indicator of recognition from the Ophthalmological community to EEMOFL for its outlook and efforts in training Greek Ophthalmologists in the sector of eye inflammation.

For this year we have planned an exciting program that aims to keep delegates steadfast with their interest with a program that included panel discussions, lectures and instruction courses. This year «GERASIMOS PALIMERIS» invited lecture will be delivered by the «father of scleritis» Dr. Peter Watson. Distinguished invited faculty promises an exciting meeting.

In the name of EEMOFL, I would like to welcome you all in Thessaloniki

The President of EEMOFL
Sofia Androudi
Assistant Professor of Ophthalmology

INVITED FACULTY

Khalid F. Tabbara

Khalid F. Tabbara, MD, ABO, FRCOphth (Ed) is currently the Chairman of the Saudi Scientific Board of Ophthalmology at the Saudi Council For Health Specialties in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, Adjunct Professor of Ophthalmology at Wilmer Ophthalmological Institute of The Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, Baltimore, Maryland, USA, Medical Director of The Eye Center, and Director of The Eye Foundation for Research in Ophthalmology, Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, and Clinical Professor of Department of Ophthalmology, College of Medicine, King Saud University, Riyadh, Saudi Arabia.

Dr. Tabbara is certified by the American Board of Ophthalmology (ABO), and a Fellow of the Royal College of Ophthalmologists of United Kingdom.

Dr. Tabbara is former Professor and Chairman at Department of Ophthalmology, College of Medicine King Saud University, and Research Director at King Khaled Eye Specialist Hospital, Riyadh, Saudi Arabia. Dr. Tabbara was Associate Professor of Ophthalmology at Department of Ophthalmology and The Francis I. Proctor Foundation, University of California in San Francisco. He served as an Examiner in the American Board of Ophthalmology (ABO) for 32 years. Dr. Tabbara also served as President of the International Uveitis Study Group (IUSG), Paris, France in the period of 1996 to 2000. Dr. Tabbara is Founding President of the Arab Board of Ophthalmology and served as President in the period of 1994 to 1998.

Dr. Tabbara established the Research Department of the King Khaled Eye Specialist Hospital in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, and in 1983 led the team that completed the largest survey of blindness in Saudi Arabia. Dr. Tabbara received research grants from the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, the University of California, and the King Abdul-Aziz City for Science and Technology (KACST). Dr. Tabbara's main research focused on ocular immunology and microbiology, infections of the eye, uveitis, cornea, and external eye diseases. Dr. Tabbara completed several field projects in Saudi Arabia on Trachoma in school children, treatment of Trachoma with azithromycin, Trachoma in Saudi Arabia, blindness in Saudi Arabia, and Toxoplasmosis in Saudi Arabia.

Dr. Tabbara organized and initiated the first four-year structured residency program in Ophthalmology in the Middle East, the joint King Saud University/King Khaled Eye Specialist Hospital (KSU-KKESH) Residency Program that graduated over 200 highly qualified ophthalmologists.

Dr. Tabbara acted as an Advisor and Consultant in the launching of the Residency Programs in Oman and Kuwait and served as External Examiner in the Examination Boards of Ophthalmology in both countries.

Dr. Tabbara established the Saudi Ophthalmologic society, the Saudi Ophthalmological Society (SOS). It was the first Subspecialty society in Saudi Arabia under the umbrella of King Saud University (KSU), Riyadh, Saudi Arabia. More than 25 other societies followed and were later established in Saudi Arabia in various other subspecialties. Several other Ophthalmologic societies followed and were established in the region including Kuwait, Bahrain, United Arab Emirates, Qatar and Oman.

Dr. Tabbara was the Founding Editor and former Editor-in-Chief of the Saudi Journal of Ophthalmology (SJO), the official journal of the Saudi Ophthalmological Society. He is an advisory member of the editorial boards of JAMA Middle East, International Ophthalmology Clinics, International Journal of Ophthalmology, Ophthalmic Epidemiology, Ocular Inflammation and Immunology.

Dr. Tabbara received Gold Medal Awards from the Pakistani Ophthalmological Society, the Saudi Ophthalmological Society and the Pan-Arab Council of Ophthalmology. Dr. Tabbara received American Academy of Ophthalmology Awards for four Scientific Posters and first Exhibition Awards, and for Distinguished services in the educational programs. Dr. Tabbara also received the Physician's Recognition award for the Continuing Medical Education from the American Medical Association.

Dr. Tabbara received the Senior Honor Award from the American Academy of Ophthalmology (AAO). Dr. Tabbara received the Best Research Project Award from the Saudi Ophthalmological Society during its Tenth Annual Scientific Meeting in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia.

Dr. Tabbara received the Trachoma Gold Medal award for the year 2000 from The International Organization Against Trachoma (IOAT) during the 106th Congress of the French Ophthalmological Society, held on May 7, 2000 in Paris, France (IOAT awards the Gold Medal to one scientist who has contributed to the control of Trachoma in the world).

Dr. Tabbara is a recipient of the "Lifetime Achievement Award" from the Hellenic Society for the Study of Ocular Inflammations and Infections awarded during the Sixth Panhellenic Congress of Ocular Inflammations and Infections where he gave the G. Palimeris Honorary Lecture. The meeting was held in the period of November 12-14, 2010 in Ioannina, Greece.

Dr. Tabbara is the recipient of The Gold Medal Award 2011 of the Saudi Ophthalmological Society (SOS) and delivered the Gold Medal Lecture during its annual meeting (Saudi Ophthalmology 2011) in the period of 27 February-02 March 2011 at King Fahd Cultural Center, Riyadh, Saudi Arabia.

Dr. Tabbara is the author of over 380 scientific publications. He is also the author, co-author or guest editor of many chapters and has 20 books in Ophthalmology.

Dr. Tabbara is currently active in residents teaching, research, continuing medical education, and clinical ophthalmology.
